MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Macleod - Crows' Nest Past Ministerial Association held its regular monthly meeting in Bellevue United church on Monday morning when the following were present: Rev. R. E. Pow, Pincher Creek; Rev. V. M. Gilbert, Macleod; Rev. W. H. Irwin, Bellevue; Rev. J. K. Kirk, Coleman; Rev. E. B. Arrol, Blairmore; Capt. F. Watson, Coleman; Rev. Fil-Lieut. N. J. Cree, R.C.A.F., Macleod; Rev. J. C. Lusk, chaplain to the training school at Pearce; Rev. J. R. Hague, Coleman, and Rev. A. F. Horvick, Presbyterian minister at Macleod.

Rev. N. J. Cree led in the devotions. Rev. W. H. Irwin reviewed a portion of the book on "Jeremiah" presently being studied, and Rev. V. M. Gilbert led in the Bible study. Rev. E. B. Arrol presided at the organ.

After lunch, which was had at the Cosmopolitan hotel, Blairmore, Rev. J. C. Lusk, newly arrived from Scotland, gave a very interesting address on conditions in the old land, particularly stressing the work the Church of Scotland was doing amongst all classes.

Following are the new officers of the Blairmore Catholic Women's League: Mrs. I. L. Morgan, president; Mrs. Omer Diamond, first vice-president; Mrs. Bert Saunders, second vice-president; Mrs. Josephine Gillis, third vice-president; Mrs. C. Fabry, secretary; Mrs. J. V. McDougall, treasurer. The election took place at the annual meeting on Friday night last.

ARMY TRAINING CIRCUS

The Canadian Army Train now touring Canada, and which will be displayed to the people of the Crows' Nest Pass in Blairmore from 6.30 to 10 p.m. on Saturday, April 25th, and again on Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon, is not sent out to entertain the public, it is stressed by the public relations branch of the national defense department. It is not a "circus" train, but is intended to show the people of the country how their Victory Bond and War Savings Certificate dollars are spent.

Included in the exhibits are weapons and equipment of the following branches: signals, engineers, army service corps, ordnance corps, artillery, dental corps, medical corps, army trade schools. On the two flat cars are a 22-ton Valentine tank, anti-aircraft searchlight, a reconnaissance truck and a universal carrier. In addition, the Red Cross Society has an exhibit on the train.

They are actual weapons of war. The searchlight, for example, operated from a diesel engine, has 500 million candlepower and can be seen for a distance of 65 miles.

Young men who will one day be soldiers will be interested in the exhibit and the display may help them decide upon the branch of the army they prefer. Parents of boys now on active service will also learn the type of equipment issued to their soldier sons.

WORK FOR PLEBISCITE AND VOTE "YES"

All political differences should be submerged by Canadians and get together as a unit to get out the affirmative vote in the forthcoming plebiscite. Political views have absolutely nothing to do with the question we are asked to answer.

All political parties in Canada during the 1940 general election were parties to the solemn pledge given at that time by their leaders to the Canadian people, so nothing could be more logical than—with unforeseen conditions as they are today—supporters of all political groups should work together to release those in power from the pledge.

As the prime minister pointed out in his address this week in support of an affirmative vote, Canadians are today facing one of the most critical periods in our national life, and there must not be even a moral brake to retard the speed of Canada's all-out war effort.

An overwhelming "Yes" vote on Monday, April 27th, will remove any friction now or in the future. Work for and vote "Yes" while you can.

It is getting down to that stage now that some persons not desiring to help the communities in which they are located for the time being may place themselves on skids, so that when too many are after them they may hitch to a team and move elsewhere. It's not good business.

Persons in Blairmore who had donated clothing, etc., to destitute people at St. Pierre-Miquelon, are receiving letters of thanks from the inhabitants.

Alberta Soldiers With Canadian Train

New touring Canada from coast to coast, to show Canadians the tools with which their boys in uniform fight, is a travelling exhibition known as the Canadian Army Train. This train, which has nine cars of exhibits ranging from small arms ammunition to a Valentine tank, is staffed by 60 officers and men representative of all parts of Canada. This picture shows Alberta's contingent, left to right: Pte. J. C. Mitchell, Lucas; Tpr. M. B. Craven, Medicine Hat; Sgt. W. Harvie, Three Hills.

See the Big Searchlight in Operation

Thousands will visit Blairmore next week and from all over the district between Fernie and Pincher Creek to view the touring Army Train.

Much has already been said of the great train that is designed to bring home to our citizens young and old an idea of the contrivances necessary and available for our boys who are fighting for us against the most unscrupled and vicious beings this world has ever known.

The train, made up of seven standard baggage cars and two flat cars from the C.N.R. and C.P.R., carries the exhibits, valued at $3,000,000, and the public will be admitted in single file at one end to come out at the other thrilled by the very simple and interesting explanations of the various pieces of exhibit. It will take the average person from fifteen to twenty minutes to go through the train, and it is figured that at least 9,000 persons will visit the train during its stay here for visiting hours 6.30 to 10 p.m. on Saturday and from 10 to 12 noon on Sunday.

Blairmore will afford the second opportunity for Alberta citizens to see the big searchlight in action, and for the whole tour there will not be a more glorious scene. We are housed in with mountains, and the 65-mile range of the searchlight will bring up all surroundings, including Crows' Nest mountain, so brilliantly that cameras should be aptly.

Following the showing here, the train will leave shortly after noon for Lethbridge, where the display will be on from 4 to 10 p.m.

Committees are being organized in the Crows' Nest Pass, with Coleman, Bellevue, Frank and Hillcrest co-operating. It's a big problem, for there will be many people to look after, including school children, the latter to be guided either by their parents or their teachers or other custodians. It is planned that the C.P.R. depot, as well as all business places will be suitably decorated, and that a suitable reception will be accorded the train and its staff of somewhere around sixty. A massed band will be on hand on Saturday evening, and in all likelihood stores will close between 6.30 to 7 o'clock.

SEE THE BIG SEARCHLIGHT!

HOW CAN WE BEST SERVE?

Canadian housewives, biggest army unit of the home front, are asking: "How can we best serve?" The consumer branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board advises:

Buy as carefully and intelligently as you know how. Don't be a hoarder, or start rumors about impending shortages—you can create shortages that way. Don't waste anything. Salvage anything you can. Get as much out of your possessions as possible. If you cannot use something you have, or make it over, give it to someone who can use it.

Buy as many war savings certificates and stamps as possible.

Ronald Arthur Warn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Warn, of Bellevue, has enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force at the Calgary recruiting centre as an electrician. AC2 Warn, R.A., will commence his force training at No. 3 Manning Depot, Edmonton. Previous to enlistment, Air-craftman Warn was electrician with the West Canadian Collieries.

Police are on the watch for certain young lads who are in the habit of defacing or destroying legal notices in the post office lobby and elsewhere. If caught they will serve a term in jail that might teach them a lesson. Any person noticing anyone attempting to damage such notices should inform the police. Last week end notices were posted in various parts of the town, giving information in connection with voters' lists being compiled. Most of these notices have also been deliberately destroyed. The penalty in this connection is very severe.

ENLIST NOW

Men are required for immediate enlistment in the Royal Canadian Air Force as wireless operators (air gunners). Qualifications are: Education, two years high school; age, must not have attained 35th birthday; height and weight, not to be over six feet or 175 pounds.

Applicants must be able to pass the prescribed tests before being accepted.

Vacancies also exist for those desirous of enlisting as direct entry pilots or observers, and also for pre-enlistment education classes, the qualifications for which are shown on an information circular, copy of which may be seen at The Enterprise office. The next pre-enlistment class commences on May 18th.

All communications regarding the above should be addressed to the Commanding Officer, No. 2 Recruiting Centre, R.C.A.F., Calgary, or by contacting the Mobile Recruiting Unit in person.

Three former Blairmore residents, now residing in and around Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, send their regards to old acquaintances. They are Robert MacLachlan, of Castle Shannon; Dave Martin, custodian of the Eastern Star Temple in Pittsburgh; and Albert Poole, one time in the employ of Contractor Poole, now a Wilkesburg contractor. They all belong to the British Empire War Veterans' Post in Pittsburgh. Mr. MacLachlan is a brother of Mrs. E. B. Arrol.

WAR SALVAGE NEWS

At the regular meetings of the Blairmore and Coleman Elk lodges last week, addressed by the salvage supervisor, both lodges agreed with great enthusiasm to back up the local district campaign by one hundred per cent of their membership volunteering to make house to house calls for salvage.

So, gather up your scrap; the boys will be calling on you soon.

More than two carloads of heavy scrap are in sight in the Crows' Nest towns, from mines, garages, etc.

Let's all get in the SCRAP to scrap Hitler and his gang.

It would help a lot if Blairmore people would take their contributions of old rubber and paper to Mr. McFann at the R.C.M.P. barracks.

THE LATE "JOE" LITTLE

Editor Herald:

Sir: I have read the article on editorial page of your issue of April 6, "Joe Little," with keen interest, and whoever wrote this article appreciated Old Joe.

It was my good fortune to know him personally as I made a number of trips through the Pass over thirty years ago and I always called on Joe at Blairmore. He told me that he was a locomotive engineer on Canadian Pacific during its construction of the railway around the north shore of Lake Superior.

He said he had never lost interest in locomotives and he expressed a desire to visit me at Lethbridge while I was with the A. R. & I. Co., also Canadian Pacific, but the call of the mountains was too strong.

His home was on the side of the mountain and he remarked that the latch-string was always on the outside at all visiting railroad men.

Still further up the mountainside and within a stone's throw of his home was the little cemetery of Blairmore. And at that time there were no other houses near his house. At one time I said to him, "Joe you have very quiet neighbors up here," and he replied, "Yes, when I pass on they won't have very far to carry me." And now at last he sleeps where he had always wished to remain.

I hope future historians will give the old pioneers and prospectors their just dues and considerations, as their stories will be of much value to the future generations.

Yours very truly,

G. A. LITTLE.

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

CHAPTER XVII

Tamar rose quickly. Was Ranny going to try to make love to her? It had been some perfect hour, this one that had just passed.

Ransome rose, too, and slipping his hand through her arm walked beside her to the old mill. "Mind if I go ahead with my ideas on the subject? I just remarked that in the stone age a man could go out and do battle with his rival and run away with the girl of his choice. He didn't have to stand by and gentlemanly inhibitions and see somebody else try to win her."

Tamar gave him a swift glance. Ransome's bare blond head was utterly handsome. His features strong and clear-cut, his dark eyes shining through blond lashes.

"This is really so sudden, Ranny," Tamar said mockingly. "With one swoop Ransome picked her up in his hard arms and strode toward the stone bench, somebody had built years ago. 'None of that, Tamar.' He held her close to him and she could hear the pounding of his heart."

She closed her eyes and wondered where her tempestuousness had flown. She should have rallied against him, and said out of his arms and in the old manner kicked his shins. But she was suddenly ineffably weary, and Ransome's arms made a haven of peace and security for her.

As he sat down on the bench she looked up at him and murmured: "Sir, you are so big and strong, and I so little and weak, wouldst kindly put me down?"

"Damn!" said Ransome. He opened his arms and she slipped into them. You couldn't make love to a girl like that. He was helplessly angry, and moreover he felt silly. Why need she always make him feel as though they were still in their teens, acting out some foolish drama that she had concocted out of her imagination?

Ranny stared moodily at the mill wheel. He couldn't make love to Tamar now or any other time as long as she thought of him as she did. Let a man like Christopher Sande come into Tahlahneka and half the girls in town were trying to marry him.

Tamar sprang to her feet and ran. He was suddenly taking him by surprise. "Get up, lazy bones. Time to explore the old cabin before we go home."

Ransome studied her eager face, her blue eyes were lit and shining. She wanted to explore—while he wanted more than anything in the world to gather her up in his arms. Reluctantly he turned from the bench. Well, anything to please the Queen! And he hated himself for thinking of her in that way, for she was really his queen, his idea of heaven on earth.

To think of her at night was to dream of her the whole night through; her little hand flew across the shorthand pad for the dictation that Miss Edie carefully took; her plump face with its frame of black curls was in every book, on every magazine page. She was always with him in reality—in flesh and blood—they must go and explore a cabin!

Ranny's tall figure moved beside her small one. "Wait—let's look in the old mill while we're here so close. I'll go first, so we can see if it's safe to step on the old boarding."

"I'd hate to see you fall in the water with that good-looking suit, Ranny. Let me go first—it can't hurt this riding habit."

He set her to one side, saying firmly: "If any one's going to have to hang on the line and dry out, let me be the martyr." He stepped gingerly up to the old deck, testing the flooring with his shoes. "It's pretty rotten, Tamar. Shall we risk it?"

"Of course not, if you think it shouldn't be walked on." She came closer to him, and catching hold of his hand, she said: "Very well, keep your eyes on the old door, swing it open. It creaked on its rusted hinges and slammed against the outer wall."

"Look!" she pointed down at the dust over the sill. "Some one's been here. Look at the tracks. Boot tracks, Ranny."

"Right-o Sherlock. Well, if they can, I can. Here goes!" He stood with his full weight on the broken floor boards.

"Lots of track, Tamar, as though some one came here frequently. And they must be recent, too, because it rained last week."

Ranny he could prevent her, she had leaped upon the old deck, too, and walked across to peer into the dimness of the chamber which had held grain for grinding. She tugged at his sleeves. "Isn't that a cot, Ranny? And a table?" Some one's been living here, I'll bet."

"Their eyes were accustomed to the darkness now, and they carefully skirted the holes in the floor and went inside."

"Some one has been staying here," Ranny held up a tin can. "And my guess is that they're still staying here. We'd better get out pronto. Here's evidence of a meal just eaten—maybe this morning."

He picked up something else. "I don't like to be a prying Prius, but isn't that the Cricket Hill stationery?"

"Ranny!" Tamar gave a startled cry. She reached for the long envelope. "Of course it is! Let me see!"

She hurried to the doorway so the light was better. The headings were from the office of the Cricket Hill, and the signature at the bottom was that of the major.

She read the message aloud. "Please wait until I advise regarding shipment of bars. Details soon worked out. Planning cache in old mill on Whiffle Creek."

Ranny took out pencil and paper and copied the letter word for word. "Hurry!" Tamar urged. "We'd better get out of here."

They sprang down from the deck and ran for Ranny's car. If only we weren't discovered," she said breathlessly. "Tara afraid that our car tracks will be noticed. Thank goodness you cleaned up the luncheon papers."

"They were out of the old road in a few minutes and on to the better highway leading to the paving."

"Why would they choose a place this far away?" Tamar asked. "And what is the cache for, Ranny?"

"Your guess is as good as mine. But we both know—and don't need to guess."

"I never heard of anything so preposterous in all this modern age. Why, it's like the old days of highwaymen and pirates. What are we going to do?" Her eyes were enormous now and her hands shook.

"That's the very worst of it," Ranny said meditatively. "We've some suspicions, but nothing very definite to tie them to. You have to have some concrete evidence in a thing like this. You can't just go and arrest a man for suspecting him to be considering committing a crime."

"Look, Ranny. There's the major's car!"

"You're nervous. That probably was Ranny's idea. I'll bet there are four cars right here in this neighborhood just like his."

"I couldn't really tell. Ranny, I'm scared."

Todd gave a short laugh. "This is Ranny's idea, half hour ago, I said that in the stone age a man could go out and fight for the girl he loved. I guess he can even in this age!"

GOOD FOOD GUARDS THE NATION'S HEALTH

And ALL-BRAN Does a Double Job

Now... at a time when good food... good health... is more important than ever, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN fills a dual role. As a delicious breakfast food, it helps supply the proper nourishment to thousands of Canadians... helps keep them free of the common type of constipation caused by lack of proper "bulk" in the diet. Eat ALL-BRAN as a cereal or in tasty muffins every day... drink plenty of water... and discover this "better way" to keep regular without using harsh cathartics that only offer temporary relief. ALL-BRAN gets at the cause... and corrects it. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like a purgative. It takes time.

ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in London, Canada, and sold in 2 conveniently sized packages at all grocers'... in individual serving packages at restaurants. Eat it every day as a cereal or in muffins, and drink plenty of water.

ALL-BRAN MUFFINS

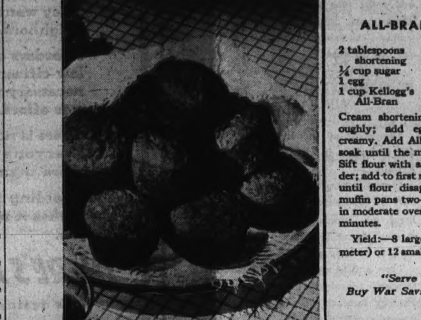

2 tablespoons 1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup shortening 1 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg 1/2 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until creamy. Add All-Bran and milk; let soak until the mixture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderate oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes.

Yield—8 large muffins (3" in diameter) or 12 small (2 1/2" in diameter).

Gardening

Big Vegetable Garden
A good big vegetable garden is both patriotic and commonsense in wartime, provided he is willing to devote all his spare time to one person can handle a quarter acre of vegetable garden and grow more than enough vegetables to keep a family the year round. But a quarter of an acre is a big garden.

As a matter of fact, all experienced gardeners advocate a small, well cultivated plot in preference to one larger and receiving less care. The smaller plot, too, in the end will produce the best and the most vegetables. If the original digging is followed promptly and regularly with from two to four thorough cultivations, about a week to ten days after the weeds will get discouraged. To make sure, however, that the weeds are killed and not just temporarily put off from starting, it is well to allow sufficient time in between cultivation for the pests to germinate and start to grow.

Don't Rush Planting
Many more flowers and vegetables are lost through planting too soon than too late, and in war time especially we cannot afford such waste. There are, it is true, a few things that are not hurt by sowing early plants that naturally reproduce themselves in Canada.

In this category will be onions, garden peas, parsnips, lettuce, radish, etc., among the vegetables, and in the flowers—cosmos, bachelor's buttons, sweet pea, lysium. All of these and some more will stand moderate frost and throughout most of Canada can be sown just as soon as the soil can be worked. But there are a great many more flowers and vegetables that will not make any headway until the weather really turns warm. Actually they will not make any growth until the soil is warm, usually in mid-May or later. There is nothing to be gained by rushing them in too soon.

Flower Jungles
One can do wonders with flowers alone, but still more amazing results will follow where we combine flowers skilfully with grass, winding walks, shrubbery and bits of stonework. In this combining, however, we must take care to not reproduce a jungle. A little preliminary planning and a rough sketch drawn approximately to scale will help wonderfully. Flowers and shrubbery must not be crowded but they must become spindly and weak. There should be a generous foreground of good lawn.

Little flowers must not be hidden by tall things like full-size marigolds, cosmos or zinnias. Beds must be so arranged that we can keep down weeds and remove fading foliage.

Cats were regarded as sacred in ancient Egypt. When they died, they were embalmed and buried in the Temple of Bast, the cat-headed goddess.

May Be Successful
Plan To Establish Mail Service With Britons In Japan
The British Broadcasting Corporation reported efforts are being made by Postmaster-General Morrison to establish mail service with British prisoners of war and civilians held in Japan.

The service had been suggested to the Japanese government and everything possible is being done to have it put into effect. It was reported.

Cheese For Britain

Quota Of 112,000,000 Pounds Will Be Filled This Year

Have you been doing without cheese because you wanted to do your share for Great Britain? If so, you will be glad to hear that Great Britain's cheese quota of 112,000,000 pounds will be filled by the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1942.

According to the Department of Agriculture, it is quite all right to buy the cheese you see in the stores. You may not be able to get the exact kind of cheese you want, or as much as you want, but you are not on the honor system of rationing as is necessary with sugar and bacon.

In 1941 some 8,000,000 pounds of cheese had to be withdrawn from the domestic market to ensure filling British contracts. Owing to unfavorable pasture conditions in the main producing areas last year, the increase in milk for cheese production was small and it has remained necessary to limit the amount of cheese on the home market.

Ordinarily Canadians eat 40,000,000 pounds of cheese a year. From a nutritional standpoint this is not enough—a mere 3 1/2 pounds per person per year. The Canadian cheese industry is now working overtime for Britain so Canadians must postpone the day when they increase cheese consumption for their own benefit.

When the war is over housewives can do double duty by using more cheese to increase the family supply of calcium and helping to stabilize the industry that is now working for Britain.

Mention of Napoleon is forbidden by the Nazis in all history lessons in Netherlands schools. Vrij Nederland, free Dutch newspaper published in London, reported.

SELECTED RECIPES

MONDAY SUPPER DISH

- 2 cups sliced onion
- 3 cups chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 2 cups tomatoes
- 2 cups peas
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 cups cooked dried meat
- 2 tablespoons butter

Cook onion and celery in fat until lightly browned. Stir in flour, salt and chili powder. Add liquid from tomatoes and peas; cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Add tomato pulp, peas, vinegar and sugar; simmer about 15 minutes. Add meat and continue cooking only until thoroughly heated. Melt butter and pour over cereal. Heat in oven or over low heat, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Arrange mixture in rice bowl on platter and heat hot, buttered cereal in centre.

Yield: Eight one-cup servings.

APRIL FORGET-ME-NOT

Pie-Crush Out—Not! Just a reminder that a piece can be made in no time by melting 1/4 cup butter or margarine, adding a cup of fine corn flake crumbs and 1/4 cup sugar. Line a pie pan with the mixture and bake for about eight minutes in a moderate oven. Cool. Fill with any cream or chiffon pie filling.

Look Out! Sick Liver's Dangerous

Do you have persistent headaches and backaches? Are you tortured by rheumatic pains in muscles and joints? Is your family liver is clogging your whole system. Serious ill health may result.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to your blood and cleanses it. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes debilitated—your mind and body suffer. As your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoning your body with the waste products of its intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this pollution. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "tired," "sloppy," "backache," "dizzy," tired out—a ready prey for sickness.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruite-Lives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruite-Lives" are Canada's shortest time cures. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruite-Lives" put you back on the road to lasting health—take it as a new person. 25c, 36c.

IS THIS LEADERSHIP?

There must be something unwholesome about the atmosphere of the legislative buildings in Edmonton. On other occasions the Advocate has questioned whether the present government considered that this province was or was not a part of Canada. Last week a member of the provincial cabinet, Hon. L. Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, took occasion to characterize the recent action of the Dominion government in disallowing several Alberta acts as a "streak disallowance." And this week we have the spectacle of the New Democracy members of the House of Commons, who went on record at Ottawa in support of a "Yes" vote on the forthcoming plebiscite, deciding after a caucus in Edmonton that they will not support a campaign to vote "Yes" on the plebiscite. Instead of actively working for a large "Yes" majority, which might reasonably be considered their duty as good citizens, the New Democracy members now propose that each voter "be left free to assume his personal democratic responsibility for the manner in which he exercises his voting right." In other words, the elected leaders of the people are not going to give their constituents any leadership on this important question. It must be assumed, lacking any other evidence, that this change in attitude from an all-out endorsement of an all-out national war effort to a refusal to give any lead at all has been brought about by influences in Edmonton.—Red Deer Advocate.

HOOKE'S STATEMENTS
PROVED UNTRUE

A reply to the inquiry into certain statements made by A. J. Hooke, Social Credit M.L.A. in Alberta, as to his claims that some $72,000 sterling had been collected in fines in England from people found guilty of planting excess acreage to potatoes, and that enormous quantities of oranges had been destroyed on the Liverpool docks while thousands of poor people were starving for fruit juices, was received from the minister of food in England, saying:

"It is quite untrue that 72,000 pounds fines have been collected in wartime from British citizens for producing too many potatoes. There are no restrictions on potato production, and the 1941 crop was expected to show an increase of over two million tons over the five and a quarter million of 1939.

"That statement that one and a half million cases of oranges had been destroyed at Liverpool is quite fantastic. The only oranges destroyed in the United Kingdom have been much smaller quantities, which, owing to war difficulties of shipping, have arrived in bad condition.

"It will be understood that when refrigerator shipping is not always available, and when convoyed ships travel by roundabout routes, the safe arrival of ripened fruit cannot always be guaranteed."

This reply was signed on behalf of the British minister of food by R. Wentworth, information officer.

A heavy blanket of eight inches of snow is reported north of Edmonton.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windsor)

Edmonton, April 14.—Considerable feeling is aroused in Edmonton over the statement made by Hon. Lucien Maynard at a public meeting in the Social Credit headquarters here, April 3th. The minister likened the action of the Ottawa government in disallowing three Alberta acts to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, saying it was a "streak disallowance."

Citizens object strongly to their government at Ottawa being likened to Japanese barbarians, and Mr. Maynard is unlikely to hear the end of the incident for some time.

He told his audience that the decision to disallow the Alberta acts was held back until after the provincial legislature had prorogued, so as to prevent the government from airing its objections or preparing its counter action. The charge seems more than usually futile, because no matter what action the Alberta government contemplates in retaliation, the disallowance will not be effected, and no action of the legislature before prorogation could have altered it.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, busied himself with another wasted trip to Ottawa to find out what he could about Alberta's part in the building of the Alaska highway. The minister met with a stonewall disappointment, and came back knowing as much as he did before he left, which isn't much. It isn't likely the Ottawa or Washington governments are going to lay their plans before the little comedian public works minister from Alberta merely because he wants to know.

What is going to be done, and when, is the business of the two sovereign states who are at war with tireless enemies, and the fact that Mr. Fallow and Mr. Aberhart don't know what the plans are isn't going to stop or advance the work of constructing that highway. Perhaps it is just as well the little minister wasn't told anything.

There is just another illustration of the fact that Alberta is a part of the Dominion, and not a sovereign state with the right to demand such information.

Fine spring weather has begun in Edmonton, but there is need for moisture before very long in the district. Government reports state the moisture at present in only 84 per cent of normal. The unusually dry winter, with a light snow fall, has left the land very dry and powdery in places.

Farmers are laying their plans for the spring work and it is expected operations will be in full swing shortly.

Social Credit members of parliament from Alberta held a caucus in Edmonton last week, the main topic of discussion, it is understood, being the forthcoming plebiscite. Despite the clear cut position taken in parliament during the Ottawa discussions, the attitude appears to have changed a bit. The members when in Ottawa stood squarely in support of a "yes" vote in the plebiscite, but they caused surprise by edging a bit in their caucus, possibly under provincial influence. The Edmonton Journal comments as follows:

"It has been assumed that Social Credit spokesmen were prepared, like those of the Liberal, Conservative and C.C.F. parties, to urge the casting of affirmative votes on April 27. There seemed to be no doubt about this in view of the attitude taken at Ottawa by the New Democracy members during the last stages of the debate on the plebiscite. Accordingly it came as a great surprise when last Thursday, at their caucus in Edmonton, they decided that 'no political group with a definite policy for total war would be justified in pressing the people to vote in a particular manner on a question upon the meaning of which there can be no agreement.'"

"But the meaning of the question itself is quite plain. The electors are simply asked whether they favor the releasing of the government 'from any obligations arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service.' It has not given an under-

SUITS FROM LEG CUFFS

Men's pants from wholesale clothing manufacturers, until recently were shipped out with the leg ends unfinished. The retail tailor would measure the customer and snip off any spare length in the trouser legs, leaving sufficient to turn over into a cuff. All that is altered under the simplified practice regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Trousers now must be made up without cuffs. It saves material. Thousands of pairs of trousers in wholesale stocks are having the cuff length scissored off. These trouser ends are re-processed and made into bolt-cloth again. On an average, fifty-four trouser cuffs supply cloth enough to make an entire suit for somebody.

MANY WOMEN IN AIRCRAFT FACTORIES

Thousands of women are at work day and night in aircraft factories in Britain.

Women aircraft workers who could once be counted on the fingers of one hand, now number half the workers in most factories and will eventually number seventy per cent.

Their skilled and arduous work was formerly considered fit only for men. Factory foremen were skeptical of a woman's ability to turn out aircraft. But women proved themselves intelligent, quick, accurate and skilful, and the foremen have had to admit that they are doing a very good job. Working with power presses and pneumatic riveters, as well as with the more delicate apparatus for making precision instruments, they build aircraft frames, wings and fuselages, work on radios and assemble engines.

ANOTHER MYSTERY MAN

Anthony Eden is coming into the picture. Here, too, is a mystery man. He has everything that should bring him to the summit—personality, ease, the charm, good looks and "predictability." But he does not quite get there. I can reveal that when the government was remodelled there was a very strong move to make Eden Leader of the House, but he was passed over for Cripps. Now with Cripps assigned to the India problem, Eden gets the leadership at least temporarily. This is his big chance. He will at least have the chance of showing his paces as a future prime minister. If the fates are good to him and he does well, then his star will shine bright in the political heavens.—Financial Post.

FRIEND OF A FRIEND

A Montrealer has discovered in a scrap book a prophecy about the end of the war. It was clipped during the last world war, but it seems as reasonable now as it did then. Here it is:

Absolute knowledge have I none,
But my aunt's washerwoman's son
Heard a policeman on the beat
Say to a laborer on the street
That he had a letter just last week
Written in the finest Greek

From a Chinese coolie in Timbuctoo
Who said the negroes in Cuba knew
Of a colored man in a Texas town
Who got it straight from a circus clown

About somebody in Berne
Who heard a man who claimed to know

Of a swell society female fake
Whose mother-in-law will undertake
To prove that her seventh husband's niece

Has stated in a printed piece
That she has a son who has a friend
Who knows when the war is going to end.

Twelve cartloads of scrap iron are being shipped out of Taber.

taking as to the use it will make of the release; but everyone who wants a total Canadian war effort should be anxious to have the government freed from the restriction which its head imposed upon it so illadvisedly."

LOYAL CITIZENS
DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow-citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs. Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $5,000, and imprisonment for as long as two years.

A bunch of bright freshmen at the Stanford University, California, have compiled the following analysis of women:

Symbol—Wo. Accepted atomic weight—120. Occurrence—Found wherever man exists. Seldom in the free state.

Physical properties—Boils at nothing and may freeze at any minute. Melts when properly treated. Very bitter if not well used.

Chemical properties—Very active. Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum and precious stones. Violent reaction when left alone. Able to absorb great amounts of expensive food. Turns green when placed beside a better looking specimen. Ages rapidly.

Uses—Highly ornamental. Useful as a tonic in acceleration of low spirits, etc. Equalizes distribution of wealth. Is probably the most powerful (income) reducing agent known.

Caution—Highly explosive when in inexperienced hands.

Total War For Canada

"Total War" is a phrase which we hear often these days. For many months now it has been a reality to the people of England and more recently Australians have come to know the full force of its meaning. Because we in Canada have been far removed from the scene of the conflict, our war effort, while it has been most commendable, has not been what could be considered "total." In proportion to our population, the numbers of men who have joined the armed services have been large, and the production of munitions and other materials of war has gone forward at a pace far beyond initial speculation.

Mr. Churchill described our war effort as "magnificent," and Lt.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, on his arrival in England after his recent visit to Canada, said of us: "There has been a wonderful speed-up in everything. I have seen the spirit of those in training, the devotion of the men and women in the factories, working with determination and confidence. There is no doubt our forces here are constantly in the minds of those at home and we shall lack for nothing that is required to equip us for battle against the enemy. We shall have all the reinforcements needed, and the people of Canada, in mind, body and soul, are fully determined to see this through to its successful conclusion. So I come back to the Canadian Forces, and we go forward with every confidence in the fine spirit which we shall have."

Mobilization Plan

Nevertheless, Canadians everywhere have welcomed recent measures taken by the government to further increase the Dominion's contribution toward the great struggle for freedom in which the United Nations are now engaged. The man-power mobilization plan, together with the proposed expansion of our armed services, promises to make Canada's war effort "all-out" and to put our war industries and our army, navy, and air force on a footing comparable with those of England and Australia. If the man-power mobilization plan is enforced to the limits of its powers there will be few men between the ages of seventeen and forty-five who will not be affected, for it provides that all men in that age category be in the armed forces or in some essential industry.

Agriculture will be affected in that no one engaged in farm work will be allowed to change his occupation except to join up for active service, or to take seasonal employment in another primary industry. In industrial centres it is expected that factory workers will be absorbed more and more into war industries or into the armed services, as the "luxury" industries will gradually discontinue production, due to shortage of materials or consumer restrictions. Women, too, are to be encouraged to take over in greater numbers, duties which will release men for active service.

Selective Service

A system of selective service will be used in mobilizing man-power, and allocating men to that field of service for which they are best suited. It is hoped to operate the plan as much as possible on a voluntary basis, but when compulsion is needed, provision is made for it to be applied. It is estimated that to bring our war effort up to the desired strength, there is need in the next few months for 100,000 more workers for munition plants; 13,000 men for the navy; 90 to 100,000 for the army overseas; and 70 to 80,000 for the air force. Our army is to be expanded by two new divisions, the seventh and eighth, and these will be used as a "mobile reserve" for defence of our East and West coasts. In the last war, Canada had only five divisions, and the fifth was partially disbanded. In this war there are six, with the immediate prospect of two more. In addition we have our navy and air force, the latter to be greatly augmented, since it was announced recently that the costs of the R.C.A.F. for the coming year are to be $120,000,000 greater than was originally planned. Thus Canada is facing the increasing threats of enemy attack, with a mobilization of men and resources which should cause confidence and pride.

Losses Are Small

Very Few Ferried Planes Fail To Arrive In Britain

John G. McConnell, of Montreal, public relations officer for the Atlantic Ferry command of the Royal Air Force, has disclosed that the organization has a 100 per cent. record in the delivery of Catalinas and Liberator to Britain and has lost only "in the neighborhood of one per cent" of the Hudsons flown.

Mr. McConnell said United States pilots still outnumber Canadians in the ferry service but that Commonwealth Air Training Plan graduates are now taking planes to Britain and the proportion of Dominion men in the service will increase as more and more of these crews are used.

So far there has been no proof of enemy attempts to interfere with the service, the Montrealer added.

POPULAR GIRLS KNOW CARD GAMES

"Slapjack" Is Rough, But Fun! Friends are gathered today for casual, informal fun. Be ready to entertain one, two or more with such popular card games as "Gin Rummy," "Slapjack."

"Slapjack" is a simple card game, but full of wild suspense. Two players, with a pack face down between them, take turns flipping up cards and laying them on the table. Just as Jack turns up? SLAP! BANG! You both try to be first to slap it!—you both miss—the game goes crazy. For a crowd, stunt games are especially fun. Here's one—"Uh, Uh Wood Wood!"

In time to a hot, fast radio tune, you all count "One, two, three, four, five, six, uh, eight, nine, wow, eleven etc.," in unison. All sevens and multiples of seven are "uh," and all multiples of ten are "wow." When a player makes a mistake he must drop out!

In our 32-page booklet are 47 games and stunts—for two, three or more—to make you a welcome guest, an appreciated hostess. Tell how to play "Gin Rummy" (popular from coast to coast). Includes card games, pencil-and-paper and nonsense games, puzzles, games of skill.

A Chinese Vegetable

Celtuce Grows Readily And Has Many Culinary Uses

For hundreds of years the Chinese have been growing a vegetable which tastes like a combination of celery and lettuce. Lately, inquiring Occidental food experts discovered that this product was rich in at least four vitamins—A, B, C, and G. It was not surprising, therefore, that a well-known American firm of plant-raisers seed-distributors should have commenced, this season, the promotion of the plant, called "celtuce," on this side of the Pacific. The vegetable is said to have several advantages. For instance, besides being vitamin-rich, it grows readily and has many culinary uses.

One suspects that "celtuce" is not quite the "food of the gods" that the catalogues will make it out to be, but it should and ready sale among the people of a currently vitamin-conscious continent.

The reference to vitamins brings to mind the most recent advice of specialists in this line, who now recommend the eating of such commonplace herbs as dandelions, dill, dock, burdock, wild radish and so forth. Then, of course, there is grass, for such as like it. As the wages have already been observed, King Nebuchadnezzar who went in for a diet of that stuff, may not have been so crazy after all. By the same token, many of the ancient herbal remedies and "diets" recommended by the witches, "wise women" and other cures of human ills are now being found to have merit. This, of course, is merely a re-discovery of things the ancients knew but which subsequently became regarded as quackery. Science, it seems, sometimes progresses in circles. —Drumford Expositor.

Produced By The Troops

Wherever They Are Soldiers Try To Have Their Paper

The numerous B.E.F.'s of the present war are even more journalistic than those of the last one, though they have so far produced nothing quite in the same street as the famous "Wipers Times." Says a London correspondent in the Ottawa Journal: "In the Long Front Line is displayed a copy of 'The Midnight Sun,' a weekly journal produced by British troops in Iceland, and edited by Captain Singleton. It takes a number of the club. The special interest of this particular issue is that, owing to a printer's strike, it had to be manufactured and was brought out under great difficulty. An Icelandic firm runs another newspaper for the troops, 'The Daily Post,' and the American troops have their own weekly, 'The White Falcon.' At first they ran two, one for the army and another for the marines, but their C-in-C decided one was enough, and they amalgamated. Besides these there are other weekly and monthly journals produced by the military units in Iceland. Even during their brief sojourn at Spitbergen the Canadians printed their own journal. British men in Crete actually ran a paper under fire for four days. There were also the 'To-bruk Times' and journals specially produced during the campaigning in Eritrea and Abyssinia.

Shortage Of Jute

Farmers Are Urged To Save All Sacks And Bags

From now on farmers would be well advised to take particular care of sacks and bags they may have on hand. The spread of the war in the Orient has seriously affected the possibility of getting supplies of jute, the raw material from which the best bags and sacks are made. In fact it is going to be very difficult to get supplies of jute in any quantities. Jute comes principally from India and is used in various classes of textiles from fine fabrics to coarse bagging, in cordage, binding twine and to meet a variety of needs on the farm.

If you have a number of bags or sacks on hand, the first important measure to preserve them is to keep them dry. Damp rot burlap quickly. Take the bags you have, and add pieces of burlap, shake them out and spread out in a dry place where you are sure rats and mice cannot get at them. Any kind of cotton or duck bag or sack should also be preserved. You can mend any holes with the odd pieces of material you have, providing of course such pieces are in good condition. What supplies of burlap and canvas material are on hand are required for the fighting forces—so it is advisable to take care of any bags or sacks, as you may not be able to get any more—and it looks as if you won't for a long time.

Swarms of locusts have been observed 1,000 miles at sea.

Shortage Is Serious

Two Ships Carrying Oats For Bermuda's Horses Were Lost

Bermuda's horses, upon which the colony depends largely for transportation, are threatened with famine. N. H. P. Vesey, chairman of the Colonial Food Board, said loss of two ships bearing cargoes of oats to Bermuda had created a serious situation. Some liversies are feeding their horses rolled oats.

Mr. Vesey said he telephoned New York requesting two carloads of oats, regardless of the source of origin—an unprecedented step for Bermuda, which in the past has bought all its feed exclusively from Canada.

New Price Policy For Scrap Metal Set For The West

Ottawa.—Large supplies of scrap iron and steel in the more remote areas of the western provinces are expected to be made available for war purposes under a new price policy ordered by Steel Controller Kilbourn.

Other orders set the maximum price to be paid for scrap in the maritime provinces and in British Columbia. With the demand for scrap increasing to meet war needs prices throughout Canada have been placed under strict control. Previous orders regulated prices in Ontario and Quebec.

Heavy freight charges have in the past hindered dealers from buying scrap in the Peace River district and other western areas distant from cities where foundries, the consumers of scrap, are located. Under the new order a "cellar" price to be paid to the dealer has been established, the price received by the individual selling to the dealer will be slightly below this price to allow for handling and loading costs.

In British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba dealers will receive a minimum of $10 a ton for cast iron and in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba $7 a ton for steel. Loading and handling charges average about $1.50 a ton, making the price individuals will receive about $8.50 for cast iron and $5.50 for steel.

These prices will apply throughout the provinces specified, in the order, regardless of the cost of freight to move the scrap to the ultimate consuming plant.

The prices quoted in the orders apply to No. 1 cast iron and differentials for lower grades vary from $2 to $3 below these prices. In the west a ton of scrap is 2,000 pounds and in the maritimes, 2,240 pounds.

The department of munitions and supply announced that to assist in speeding the flow of vital war materials from the United States to Canadian manufacturers working on war orders, regional offices of the priorities officer will be established in the main industrial centres of Canada.

Two such offices have already been opened, one in Vancouver, the other in Toronto. Another will now be opened in Halifax.

The statement quoted R. C. Berkshaw, chairman of the wartime industries control board and Canadian priorities officer, as saying:

"The change-over to the new system and the addition of the new regulations, issued at Washington have put an enormous strain on our staff. In one week as many as 7,000 applications for United States priority ratings were handled. Hundreds of applications are being held up because they are incorrectly completed."

RAID EFFECTIVE

Bombing War Factories in France Was Victory For R.A.F.

London.—The air ministry news service said that the raids by British and Canadian bombers on the Renault and Matford motor works in France were the equivalent to destruction in battle of the entire equipment of five armored, and mechanized divisions.

"In effect one of the major tank battles of the war has been won by the R.A.F. in about six hours at a cost of four bombers and 25 men," the service added. It declared that the service added: "It declared that the service added: 'of immediate and paramount importance to the Allied armies on both the Russian and Libyan fronts.'"

The two factories were producing 70 motor trucks daily as well as many tanks and other vehicles for the Germans. This production was stopped, the service said, much of it for at least a year, some for the duration of the war because irreplaceable machine tools were destroyed.

TRIBUTE FROM RUSSIA

Kuibyshev, Russia.—The English-language newspaper "Moscow News" praised Britain for the recent heavy R.A.F. bombings of occupied France and Germany, declaring that "what Goebbels and his ilk fail to realize is that the more reverses a Britisher suffers the tougher he gets, as the Fascists will learn to their sorrow."

NO CEILING ON REAL ESTATE

Ottawa.—The wartime prices and trade board said that "freezing" of real estate sales or the placing of a ceiling on real estate prices was neither in contemplation nor under advisement by the board.

RESTRICT TELEPHONES

Order of Priority Will Be Effective In Future

Ottawa.—The telephone in the average Canadian home appears reasonably secure although telephone companies, by an order of the wartime prices and trade board, were instructed to provide service according to a strict order of priority.

Telephone representatives who have been in consultation with the prices board said it seems probable many persons now enjoying a private telephone line may have to split that line with some other telephone user.

The householder with more than one telephone instrument in his house may be asked to give up one as shortages of equipment develop. And where companies run into difficulty in supplying customers with high priority ratings such as the armed services, munitions plants and essential civilian services, the prospect always exists that John Citizen may lose his telephone service altogether in order that they may be served.

Explains Details Of The Selective Service Program

Ottawa.—The government's national selective service program will impose a measure of regimentation but will be applied in a democratic Canadian way with the rights of the individual protected as far as possible, Elliott M. Little, national selective service director, said in an address over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

In his first public address since his appointment Mr. Little summarized the manpower program in this sentence: "The whole purpose of selective service is to give each Canadian the job he or she can do best in this war."

Clarifying the regulations on restricted industries and restricted occupations, which apply to able-bodied men between the ages of 17 and 45, Mr. Little took bookkeeping as an example.

"Bookkeeping was a restricted job whether it was in a munition plant or a confectionery shop."

"This does not mean that if you are a male bookkeeper between 17 and 45 and physically fit, you must quit your work. It means that if you are between 17 and 45 and physically fit you can't take such a job if one is open unless you have a permit."

In issuing work permits for restricted occupation the selective service officers, at present local managers of the unemployment insurance commission, would use great care before issuing a permit to single men in the age groups subject to draft call, 21 to 30 years, but would show more leniency to married men with dependents, Mr. Little said.

The permits would be only issued on a temporary basis and might be revoked at any time. The restrictions on employment applied only to men.

Many peacetime concerns might eventually be wholly or partially closed through material shortages and an effort would be made by planning to anticipate these conditions and provide for the transfer of employees to essential work.

Dealing with regulations applying to farmers, Mr. Little said that some men had left mines and war plants after the program was announced to get back on farms in the mistaken hope they would be exempt from military service.

Farmers who were on the farms March 23 and were essential to agriculture could not accept other employment without permission and were eligible for indefinite postponement of compulsory military training, he said.

Students between the ages of 17 and 21 would be allowed to take summer employment in non-essential industries except where they were required for war work, Mr. Little said. Young men attending universities and technical schools who had special training would be expected to turn to that type of work.

AIR CADET INSTRUCTION

Calgary.—A camp for the purpose of training teachers for instruction in air cadet work will be held at No. 3 service flying training school at Calgary. It was announced by P. L. W. M. Boyman, command officer for No. 4 training command, when he spoke at the annual convention of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance.

PRAISES WAR EFFORT

Mayor La Guardia Of New York Has Good Word To Say Of Canada

New York.—Mayor La Guardia, arriving by air from Montreal where he presided over a meeting of the joint permanent defence board, praised the Canadian war effort in a press interview at La Guardia airport.

He said many people outside Canada failed to realize that while the total population of Canada is but little more than that of the metropolitan New York area, "their war production and effort is that of a country of 100,000,000 people."

"The Canadians are doing a swell job in both production and manpower devoted toward winning the war," the mayor said. "When you realize how few people there are in Canada and how many industries—agriculture, mining, manufacturing, fishing and maritime activities—you will see that it is not an easy task for them to combine their various civilian activities and at the same time provide for an abundance of war materials. It is only fair that the very excellent job they are doing with what they have on hand should be acknowledged."

The mayor said the board's next meeting would be April 27 in New York. He declined to describe what occurred at the Montreal meeting except to say that "we had a crowded session."

NEW STAMPS

Canadian Issue In Preparation Will Be Available During July

Ottawa.—Canada will soon have an entirely new set of postage stamps illustrating her part in the war. Postmaster-General Mulock has made known to the Canadian Press that the issue is in preparation.

The new stamps are expected to be available sometime in July but post office officials meantime ask that philatelists refrain from sending in requests for them.

Gets George Medal For Rescuing Two

Sgt. Thomas B. Miller of Owen Sound, and Saint John, N.B., is the first member of the R.C.A.F. to win the George Medal for "prompt and extremely brave action." The 20-year-old observer entered the flaming wreck of his bomber to rescue the pilot, then the wireless operator. The latter, said Miller, was a "sort of human torch" and "I had to roll him on the grass to put the fire out." Miller was badly hurt in the crash landing and spent three months in hospital.

TROOPS MOVED

Nazis Take Precautions Against British Landing On Belgian Coast

London.—German troops are being concentrated along the Belgian coast apparently as a precaution against any British landing attempts, the News-Chronicle said. Some of the thousands of new troops were sent there from the northern French region of Cambrai which has been a rest centre for troops invalided back from the Russian front, the newspaper said.

MORE COMPULSIONS

London.—A special parliamentary committee recommended sterner compulsion to force individuals into jobs in which they would be most useful in Britain's wartime industry.

PASSENGER BUSES

Will Be Khaki Colored, With Grey Roofs, In Future

Victoria.—All new passenger buses in Canada in future will be khaki colored, with grey roofs, Harold Husband, Vancouver Island regional transit controller, has been advised by the federal transit controller in Ottawa. When buses now in use need new paint they will be done in dark khaki and grey.

The names of the owner companies will be allowed to be displayed on the buses as briefly and as inconspicuously as possible.

Defence Steps Taken To Guard British Columbia

Ottawa.—Organization of guerrilla units among men of the outdoors along the British Columbia coast will make available for the defence of Canada one of the best-armed and most skilful civilian forces in the world, government officials said.

Defence Minister Ralston announced at a press conference that 40 guerrilla units now are organized and a total of 150 might eventually be attained along the west coast.

Mines and resource officials said their experience in recent years has been that Canadian hunters and trappers in remote areas everywhere are equipping themselves with the best rifles and ammunition they can get.

This has meant that the average Canadian woodsman has a rifle just as efficient as that of a soldier, and carried by a man who knows intimately the area in which he will fight if an invasion attempt is made. The determination to obtain the best weapon possible has been in evidence not only among white hunters and trappers but among the Indians and even the Eskimos in distant outposts of the north, officials said.

Trading companies have encouraged hunters and trappers to obtain good equipment so as to ensure the utmost efficiency in their operations and the best possible return.

Col. Ralston said his department would assist the "millia rangers" with ammunition "as far as possible" but this would represent something of a problem in view of the variety of calibres used by men in outlying areas.

Officials recalled that the Ross rifle provided for the Canadian army at the start of the first Great War, was popular with some hunters and it could use the ordinary .303 army rifle cartridge.

Canadian woodsmen who joined the army in the last war demonstrated their value as snipers thousands of times, officials said.

"Not only had they the hunter's marksmanship and skill in taking cover, but they also had the patience which allowed them to wait until they were sure of hitting the target," one spokesman said.

"These west coast men who have hunted grizzlies and deer should find it easy enough to deal with any Jap who tries to get somewhere in their backwoods."

Nearly 75 per cent. of Britain's 45,000,000 inhabitants eat their midday meal outside their homes.

Reserve Army Pay To Continue On Existing Basis

Ottawa.—Pay for the Canadian reserve army, now being enlarged and reactivated, will continue on the existing basis, at rates slightly below those of the active army, national defence department spokesmen said.

Basic pay for privates in the reserve is $1.20 a day against $1.30 a day for privates in the active army. Pay for higher ranks shows a corresponding deviation from that allowed the men of the active forces.

As yet there has been no suggestion that Canada follow the example of Australia which, according to a recent press despatch, placed its militia—corresponding to the reserve in Canada—on the same pay basis as the full-time forces.

Officers and men in the Canadian reserve army are entitled to ration and shelter at public expense while in training camps and to transportation to and from camp.

A training day at camp for pay purposes is 24 hours but for drill and training at local headquarters of their units the men are paid on the basis that a morning, afternoon or evening parade lasting two hours is equal to one-third of a day, and tactical exercises or field training lasting five hours or more is equal to a whole day.

Church parades, small arms training periods of inspections, if they last two hours or more, are counted as half a day.

No dependents' allowances are payable on behalf of men in the reserve army but they are entitled to pensions if killed or injured in the discharge of their military duties.

EMBASSY PROPOSAL

Canada May Raise The Status Of Post At Washington

Ottawa.—Reports were heard in Washington that the Canadian legation in Washington might soon be raised to the status of an embassy, under an ambassador who would be a member of the cabinet.

Officials declined to comment on the report an embassy will be established in Washington but it is known such a change has been talked about in high government circles.

Canada's growing importance in international affairs, as a major producer of most of the materials essential to prosecution of the war and as a participant in vital war councils in Washington, are factors which have revived the embassy proposal.

The report is strengthened, also, by the fact that most if not all of the western hemisphere countries represented in Washington have ambassadors there.

If such a change were made, presumably it would involve retirement of Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister to the United States since February, 1941, to make way for appointment of a cabinet minister as ambassador.

Even if the embassy proposal is not carried out it is reported an experienced cabinet minister will be sent to Washington to represent Canada.

New Zealand has sent a high-ranking former minister, Hon. Walter Nash, as minister to Washington, and Australia was similarly represented. Temporarily Australia now is represented at Washington by Hon. Herbert Ewart, minister of external affairs.

The British ambassador, Lord Halifax, is a high-ranking member of the British cabinet.

The change from ministry to embassy would make little difference in the work of the Canadian representative in Washington and the expense would be but slightly increased. But an ambassador, as direct representative of the king, would have greater prerogatives.

Creation of a Canadian embassy at Washington would be followed, no doubt, by the United States raising its ministry in Ottawa to the embassy status, with a similar appointment of a minister as first ambassador.

PRESS CENSORSHIP

Editor Thinks Canada's Probably Most Sensible In The World

Halifax.—More rigid press censorship for Canada in the near future was forecast by Ronald McEachern of Montreal, assistant editor of the Financial Post, in an address before a service (Rotary) club. Mr. McEachern, who spoke on "Wartime Functions of the Press," described Canadian press censorship as "probably more sensible than any other in the world."

Also, another added improvement is a large modern skylight, eliminating considerable cost in artificial lighting. In the interest of the public, what can be sillier than that Calgary move to discontinue meeting trains with buses. The down-town hotels will suffer by such a move. The average person travelling by train to the cities enjoys being met by the "supposed to be free bus service." The remains were laid to rest at Macleod on Wednesday afternoon, with service at Trinity United church.

According to the financial statement of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, the society has $1,000 invested in Alberta 5 per cent bonds. How on earth can Able pay that five per cent when many orphans in the province have been deprived of it through his legislation. We know of cases where, not only were they deprived of full contractual interest, but almost 50 per cent of the investment. That's meting it out to poor helpless orphans in favor of the fifty-one big shots.

The many Pass friends of Mrs. (Rev.) Richard Upton, A.T.C.M., will be pleased to learn that she has been appointed choir leader at Pleasant Heights United church in Calgary. Mrs. Upton is well known in musical circles as choir leader and organist, and was prominent in choral work in the Crows' Nest Pass for six years, during which time her husband was pastor of Bellevue United church. She received her training in England, and has specialized in the study of sacred music at Union Seminary, New York City. At Pleasant Heights church on Good Friday her choir presented "The Crucifixion" to a capacity audience.

There are parasites that play on parasites. Others play on human beings.

S. G. Biaylock, president and managing director of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Ltd., has been elected a director of the Bank of Montreal.

Advertising in the National Home Monthly, reaching local readers on Saturday last, suggested "serving lamb this Easter."

Announcement is made that Coleman's allotment for the forthcoming Red Cross funds drive is $900. Blaimore's is set at $2,500. We can make it.

Miss Innes, for some time connected with the Royal Bank of Canada staff here, has been transferred to Winnipeg, and is succeeded by Mr. Armstrong, of Nanton.

The Blaimore branch of the National Committee of Free Frenchmen has sent $100 to Free French headquarters in London, England, and $25 to Free French naval forces in Newfoundland.

The second smallest item to be paid by the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society was for stationery and advertising. There isn't anyone or organization in the province, or in Canada, contributing more directly than the press.

The death occurred at Millet, Alberta, on Easter Sunday, April 6th, of Neil Allan Cameron eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alex. Cameron, former Blaimore residents. Allan was born in Blaimore in October of 1925, and leaves to mourn his loss a loving father and mother, and one brother, Reid, residing in Millet.

FOR BEST WALLS AND CEILINGS USE

STONEBORD THE FIREPROOF GYPSUM WALLBOARD

No other wallboard has all these advantages!

PACKAGES OPENED BY PULLING RIPCORD

Stonebord comes end-bundled, two sheets with their ivory rope-faces taped together face-to-face. To open simply pull the ripcord. Stonebord is sealed against injury, goes up on the job as clean and perfect as when it left the mill.

RECESSED EDGES MAKE JOINTS INVISIBLE

Where two lengths of Stonebord come together, a true uniform channel is formed. Recessed edges are exclusive with Stonebord.

STONEBORD JOINT FILLER EASY TO USE

For years this has been the favorite joint filler. Packages contain filler, trowel, wooden joint filler knife and easy instructions. That's all you need to make joints invisible with recessed-edge Stonebord.

Stonebord is the unusual, low-cost wallboard with a face of beauty and a heart of fireproof gypsum rock. Sheets are four feet wide and in lengths up to twelve feet.
